FUND REVIEW

In Q1 2025, the fund's market value closed at BWP 2.4 billion, unchanged from the prior period, despite persistent market liquidity challenges. For the quarter, the portfolio outperformed the benchmark by 29bps. Additionally, the fund has greatly outpaced the benchmark over the medium and long-term periods.

MARKET OVERVIEW

According to Statistics Botswana, real GDP declined by 2.0% in Q4 2024, indicating a fourth consecutive decline in economic activity. In Q4 2024, Mining and Quarrying declined by 27.3%, with diamond production (in carats) decreasing by 30.5%. For the full year (2024), real GDP declined by 3.0% from a prior reading of +3.2% in 2023. The mining sector experienced a 24.1% y/y contraction in 2024, compared to 2.9% in 2023 as diamond mining activity decreased by 25.6% because of production cutbacks implemented by Debswana in response to weak diamond demand and sales. Other detractors to the 2024 reading were as follows: Diamond Traders (-34.1%); Manufacturing (-2.5%) and Agriculture Forestry & Fishing (-0.3%). In Q4 2024, non-mining GDP realised growth of 4.0%, slightly lower than 4.3% realised in Q4 2023. The utilities sector continued on a positive trajectory, with electricity output rising by 72.5% (-40.0% in Q4 2023). On a guarter-on-guarter (g/g) basis, economic output increased by 1.3%, marking a reversal of the 2.9% decline in the prior quarter.

According to Botswana's statistical agency, headline inflation increased by 0.1 percentage point (pp) to 2.8% in March, as it continued to undershoot the Bank of Botswana's medium term objective range. The top contributors to the March reading included: Food and Non-Alcoholic Beverages (0.7%); Miscellaneous Goods and Services (0.7%) and Alcoholic Beverages & Tobacco (0.3%). Headline and core inflation averaged 2.7% and 3.8%, respectively in Q1 2025.

OUTLOOK

Botswana's real GDP growth trajectory faces mammoth challenges, encompassing a slowdown in the diamond market, deglobalization trend occasioned by trade protectionist policies and flagging global economic output growth. Consequently, government finances have been severely impacted with the Ministry of Finance (MoF) forecasting a budget deficit of BWP 22.1 billion in FY2025/26, which is premised on improvement in the diamond market. Nevertheless, risks are highly weighted to the downside, with De Beers having reduced its 2025 production guidance from 30-33 million carats to 20-23 million carats. Furthermore, the government has had to resort to unconventional methods of financing including acquiring a direct loan from the Botswana Public Officers Pension Fund (BPOPF) and requesting for an advance receipt from Bank of Botswana.

The central bank forecasts inflation to average 2.5% (formerly 3.9%) in 2025 and rise to 5.8% (originally 5.0%) in 2026. The 2025 average was significantly revised downwards due to an anticipated 30% reduction in water tariffs and external factors encompassing reduced forecasts for food and international commodity prices and appreciation of the Pula against the South African rand. The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) maintained an unchanged stance to the policy rate but underscored the need to establish and implement effective policies that prioritize high productivity across all economic growth activities in order to address current and future challenges.

Market liquidity remains very volatile on the back of low government flows, and we expect money market rates to continue remaining elevated during the year. Despite the accommodative monetary stance by the central bank, some commercial banks have increased pricing levels (prime rates) to offset the rise in financing costs.
