FUND REVIEW

The fund ended Q4 2023, with a market value of BWP 2.5 billion. As is the norm, client liquidity needs increased for the year end period, with the fund satisfying them accordingly. The fund continued to provide higher returns, outperforming its benchmark, amidst a noticeable improvement in market liquidity as cash rates declined.

MARKET OVERVIEW

Real GDP growth slowed significantly to 0.5% y/y in Q3 2023 from a downwardly revised 3.3% in Q2 2023. This was the weakest expansion realized since Botswana's GDP started its positive growth trajectory after recovering from the debilitating effects of the Covid-19 pandemic in Q1 2021. Mining and quarrying sector growth declined from 5.6% in Q2 2023 to -9.2% in Q3 2023, as diamond production declined commensurate with the reduction in diamond sales. Additionally, growth decreased in several key sectors (Q3) 2023 vs Q2 2023), including: Construction (3.4% vs 4.5%); Transportation & Storage (2.3% vs 4.6%); Manufacturing (1.3% vs 3.6%); Finance, Insurance, and Pension Funding (3.2% vs 7.7%), and Accommodation & Food Services (4.4% vs 5.4%). Contrastingly, on a guarter-on-guarter basis, economic output increased by 0.9% after declining by 3.5% in Q2 2023.

Headline inflation declined from 3.9% y/y in November to 3.5% y/y in December. Since reverting back within the Bank of Botswana's medium term objective range of 3-6% in September, inflation has remained therein, consequently averaging 5.2% in 2023 compared to 12.2% realized in 2022. The key contributors of the December inflation reading were as follows: Food and Non-Alcoholic Beverages (0.9%):

Miscellaneous Goods and Services (0.8%) and Transport (0.4%). The transport subcategory moderated from 2.2% y/y in November to 1.5% in December, with the December reading benefitting from the latter two fuel price reductions in the fourth quarter.

The Fleming Aggregate Bond Index (FABI) and the Botswana Bond Index (BBI) returned 2.9% and 3.5%, respectively during Q4 2023. The trend of full allotment with regards to government bond auctions continued in the fourth quarter, with yields trending downwards in line with the aggressive bidding by participants.

OUTLOOK

Local transport costs have contributed favourably to the low inflation trajectory. Recent attacks on tankers passing through the Red Sea has resulted in diversion to longer routes, a situation which if prolonged will lead to increased insurance and freight costs and rising oil prices. However, as of December, we note that there was an over recovery in local fuel prices (regulated price higher than cost), thus an immediate upward pressure on prices is minimal. Food inflation has been the main contributor to prior inflation readings, we expect this to continue being the case, with the extension and expansion of fresh produce restrictions to 31 December 2025.

Bank of Botswana (BoB) has noted the absence of any demand-driven inflation with the economy operating below its optimal capacity. Therefore, we are likely to see the monetary policy rate (MoPR) maintained at 2.40%, with a potential easing bias to support economic activity. Gross Domestic Product (GDP) recovery is likely to depend on improvement in the mining sector. The industry faces headwinds, with the proposed changes by the Group of Seven (G7) on introducing a new traceability mechanism and the growth in the market share of synthetic diamonds posing a threat to the mainstay of Botswana's economy. Nevertheless, we expect election-related spending to support fixed investment growth. Considering that fiscal revenues may come under pressure; we expect government to showcase appetite for domestic borrowing to finance resultant deficits.
